"I, therefore, commit my new Government to deliver 12 years of Good quality education by 2030. I commit to ensuring that Girls, Children with Disability and other Disadvantaged Groups have Equal Opportunities to complete the full cycle of Primary and Secondary Education."

President Julius Maada Bio, President of the Republic of Sierra Leone, 17 April 2018

"In delivering on A Better World the Government will undertake....to prioritise education for girls and scale up our funding to education especially for girls in emergencies, committing to spending at least €250 million over the next five years."

Irish Aid, Dept. Foreign Affairs and Trade, A Better World Ireland's Policy for International Development, 2018

"Thanks to the efforts of the Missionaries, the Catholic Church has numerous schools that we intend to maintain in a spirit of co-operation with the Government. As a Church we do not feel put aside in Government education projects, but more needs to be done to strengthen collaboration with State institutions."

Most Rev Charles A.M. Campbell, Bishop of Bo and President of the Inter-territorial Catholic Bishops' Conference of Gambia and Sierra Leone. June 2018.

SEMINAR AIMS

The Sierra Leone Ireland Partnership (SLIP) and Maynooth University Department of International Development invite you to take part in a critical examination of the issues to be faced in rebuilding Sierra Leone's education system.

The Government of Sierra Leone has identified education as the key to rebuilding a sustainable economy after thirty years of almost continuous emergency. It has committed 30% of the national budget (UNESCO) to providing free, inclusive, quality education for the first time in the country's history. International partners are investing heavily in the project, too. The Irish Government, through Irish Aid, has adopted education as one of the four pillars of its engagement with Sierra Leone.

This seminar will:

Outline the struggle of a State with little resources to rebuild an education system after decades of neglect and social disruption.

Examine aspects of the systematic obstruction of the progress of women and girls through the education system in Sierra Leone

Acknowledge of the extensive Irish historical involvement in education in Sierra Leone and identify how links are being maintained today, and how they can be grown in the future.

Identify the role of the different sectors, faith based, private and Government schools in delivering new systems and outcomes, for Sierra Leone education
Salute and encourage a bold initiative towards a better Sierra Leone and show that people in Ireland wish for a better life for our Sierra Leonean sisters and brothers.
