

Professor Radha Kessar
City, University of London

Title: Rationality and finiteness in modular group representation theory

Abstract:

Given a ring of coefficients is there a smallest subring over which representation theory is effective? The talk will be an introduction to this question and a survey of recent developments in the context of finite group representations over p -modular coefficient rings.