

Title: Conditional visualisation for statistical models.

Abstract:

It is difficult to visualise or understand data and statistical models in high-dimensional space. One way to approach the problem is conditional visualisation, but methods in this area have lagged behind the considerable advances in statistical modelling in recent decades. This work presents a new approach to conditional visualisation which uses interactive computer graphics, and supports the exploration of a broad range of statistical models.