GUIDELINES FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF DUAL AND JOINT POSTGRADUATE RESEARCH PROGRAMMES

Joint programmes refer to an arrangement between two or more Institutions for shared responsibility of a programme provided for one or more postgraduate research students where a single diploma is issued by at least two higher education Institutions offering an integrated programme and recognised officially in the countries where the degree-awarding Institutions are located.

Double or multiple programmes refer to arrangements under which two or more national diplomas are issued by two or more higher education Institutions and recognised officially in the countries where the degree-awarding Institutions are located.

The guidelines for establishing dual and joint postgraduate research programmes will, in generic terms, be deployed for all of these, but specific derogations from the model of Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) and Minimum Requirements may be introduced. See Appendix 1 for Minimum Requirements that pertain to the establishment of an NUI Maynooth Joint postgraduate research programme (Masters by Research or PhD).

Joint and dual/multiple programmes involve a formal agreement (MOA) on the arrangement for sharing responsibility signed by the Presidents of the partner Institutions, each student entering the programme, and each supervisor of a student on the programme. See Appendix 2 for a model MOA.

APPROVAL PROCESS

Initial consideration will be given to the proposal by the Graduate Studies Subcommittee of the Research Committee. The GSS will require certain assurances about the arrangement from the Department/Institution and Faculty outlining their support for the academic, strategic and business rationale.

The approval process is summarised in the attached flowchart (Appendix 3).

Partner Institution Approval

Where no agreement currently exists with the partner Institution, an approval process will need to take place. The Department, with support provided by the Graduate Studies Office, will prepare a report on the partner Institution to be considered by the Graduate Studies Subcommittee. This can be supplemented where possible by a visit to the Institution by a senior member of staff and by information from the International Office. The report should address a series of quality related questions thus providing the University with assurances of the academic standards, resources and facilities of the Institution concerned (See Appendix 4 for key questions that would normally be addressed). Where the University still has concerns about the proposed Institution, an Institutional visit may be required. Where the Institution is sited in partner development countries and the link is essentially about research capacity building for development the report should address the strategic relevance of partnering the Institution concerned. The Graduate Studies Subcommittee approves the Joint PhD proposal. If circumstances make it necessary the proposal will be referred by the Graduate Studies Subcommittee to the Registrar for approval. The approved proposal will be brought to Academic Council for noting.

The following appendices provide guidelines for the development of a National University of Ireland Maynooth Joint and Dual Postgraduate Research awards.

ISSUES TO BE CONSIDERED FOR THE APPROVAL OF PARTNER INSTITUTIONS

The University will require assurances that:

(i) the partners have compatible missions. This should be evidenced through the partner Institution’s mission statement, strategic plan, prospectus, the range of existing programmes, student numbers and staffing establishment;

(ii) the partner Institutions are financially stable with appropriate resources to support programmes adequately. Evidence is required that staff are appropriately qualified and experienced, and that the Institution provides proper academic supervision, adequate learning resources (including library and computing) and appropriate support services in the context of the courses already on offer (including adequate provision for the support and welfare of students). For a privately funded body the University shall require sight of a business plan, bankers’ references and published accounts;

(iii) the partner Institution has an effective management system suited to assuring the quality of programmes. This might be evidenced by the management and committee structure, administrative staffing and systems to underpin programme organisation and Institutional quality assurance;

(iv) the partner Institution offers an ethos and environment for learning, teaching and research appropriate to Ireland’s higher education and to the particular proposed collaboration(s) and demonstrates a commitment to providing an academic environment which supports critical reflection by and personal educational development for staff and students;

(v) processes of accountability for academic quality are defined and implemented according to agreed quality assurance and quality control procedures. The University will require information about the quality assurance arrangements already in place within the partner Institution and may make recommendations for development. The University will also require sight of any recent reports from funding or external quality assurance bodies;

(vi) an appropriate regulatory framework and academic and administrative policies and practices exists, such as

- assessment arrangements and related regulations (e.g. those governing cheating, plagiarism and appeals)
- charters incorporating procedures for student complaints
- equal opportunities, disability and racial equality policies
- arrangements for the collection and maintenance of student records
- arrangements for the payment of fees
- recruitment, admission and enrolment policies and procedures
- staff recruitment and development policies and procedures.
- appropriate mechanisms and resources to support staff development opportunities for involvement in research and professional activity.
(vii) all partners are committed to ensuring that each cohort of registered students will be able to complete programmes satisfactorily. Information about the funding of the Institution and its students, as well as the information suggested in (i) and (ii), for example, will help provide assurance on this issue;
