FROEBEL DEPARTMENT OF PRIMARY AND EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

At the Froebel Department, Maynooth, you get to study at the heart of a major university, where you can enjoy intellectual stimulus and social interaction with professors and students from other disciplines. As the Department is named after the famous educational philosopher, Friedrich Froebel, our programmes reflect his ideology by incorporating active, student-centred approaches to our teaching.

Master of Education: Research in Practice

MH52L (60 Credits)

The Master of Education is a part-time, one-year, level 9 degree (60 credits). Underpinned by the philosophy of Friedrich Froebel, his contemporaries and later scholars, this programme will specifically explore Action Research in its many forms within educational settings. Opportunities will exist for participants to further develop skills at a higher level in order to inspire transformative practices within educational settings.

Participants will be supported to critically reflect on their own practice, share best practices among education professionals and respond to the need for contextually relevant research, its valuable contribution to the system both in Ireland and further afield.

Distinctive student centered education
