

Resitting a previously passed module for professional exemption purposes

Please refer to the Chartered Accountants Exemption Guide for recognised exemptions in Maynooth University degree programmes and the threshold for each module.

The following modules have a threshold of either 40% or 50% to qualify for professional exemptions:

AC151; AC152; AC160; AC201; AC202; AC205; AC311; AC207; AC305; AC306; AC313; AC501A; AC503; AC505; FN205; FN206; LW151; LW152; LW154; LW155; LW180; LW263; LW480

Note: there can be some variation between degrees;

For example: undergraduates need a minimum of 40% in AC151 but if taking AC151 in the Higher Diploma in Professional Accounting, the professional exemption threshold is 50%. These modules are indicated above with **.

1. Resitting a previously passed module in the August supplemental session in the same period of study

(e.g. a second year student who passed AC205 in January but who wants to resit the module in August for professional exemption purposes)

- No permission is required if the module is included in the list above.
- Students should contact the Examinations and Assessment Office by email at Exams.Office@mu.ie after the release of students' annual results.
- Students are liable for normal August supplemental exam fees. Information regarding fees can be viewed on the Fees and Grants Office webpage.

Note: students resitting a previously passed module in the same period of study should be aware of the 'better mark principle', outlined in (2016; p.17) Marks and Standards as

A student who chooses to repeat a passed module (40% or over) or to take a new module in lieu of a passed module in order to try and improve a result must relinquish the mark first obtained and accept either 40% on the original mark or the mark obtained at the second sitting.

2. Resitting a previously passed module in the August supplemental session in a subsequent period of study

(e.g. a student who has progressed and registered for third year but who wishes to retake a second year module for professional exemption purposes)

- No permission is required.
- Students do not need to complete a permission form. Students should contact the Examinations and Assessment Office by email at Exams.Office@mu.ie to request registration.
- Registration will be as an additional module outside the primary qualification, that is, an LCO registration.

Note: the mark obtained will not contribute to the annual or award mark of the primary qualification.

- Students may register for LCO qualification in just the August supplemental exam session.
- Students may be liable for the LCO fee, for information see Fees and Grants Office webpage.
- LCO registration will display on academic transcript.
