Increments

Under the Haddington Road Agreement (June 2013 - June 2016), it was agreed that staff on incremental salaries would have delayed increments, following the payment of the next due increment. Those paid less than €35,000 had one three month increment delay, those earning between €35,000 and €65,000 had two 3 month delays, and those paid over €65,000 had two six month delays. Staff on salary scales with a starting point of €100,000 or higher were subject to a three year suspension of incremental progression.

As the University paid increments on the 1st October each year (for staff who joined prior to the 1st March) the application of these measures meant that increments became payable on either 1st January, 1st April or 1st October, depending on the applicable deferral period.

The Lansdowne Road Agreement (July 2016 – September 2018) provides for the expiration of these measures with effect from the 1st July 2017. However, increment dates revised under the Haddington Road Agreement will remain in place. As a result, increments are now payable to staff in the University on the 1st January, 1st April, 1st July and 1st October, depending on their deferral date.

Under the Haddington Road Agreement, staff on salary scales with a starting point of €100k or higher were subject to a three year suspension of incremental progression with effect from 1st July 2013. This suspension will not be extended beyond the 1st July 2017. Staff impacted by this measure will receive a letter confirming their next due increment date given that it varies depending on each individual's start date.

The table below outlines/provides a timeframe for the subsequent payment of increments. Please note that the payment of increments is subject to satisfactory performance.

Staff with annual salaries between €35,000 and €65,000 and who are currently on, or who reach the final point of their salary scale during the lifetime of the Haddington Road Agreement, are subject to 'balancing measures'. The balancing measures to be applied are a once-off annual leave sacrifice, which is capped at a maximum of 6 days leave spread over the period of the Agreement (average of 2 days per year), or an equivalent cash deduction from salary.

The measures apply on a pro-rata basis depending on the leave year in which a staff member reaches the top point of scale and his/her FTE %.

Balancing measure options for staff on the final point of the scale with salaries between 35,000 and 65,000 - effective 31st January 2014
