

An insiders perspective on the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change

Maynooth University Department of Geography invites you to attend a seminar presented by:

Prof Peter Thorne Department of Geography
Maynooth University

Date: December 14th

Time: 4.00pm to 5.30pm

Location: Rocque Lab, Rhetoric House

What is the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change? Why does it exist? What, exactly, is it good for? If you want an insider's perspective come along and I shall give my views on the process from scoping through authorship to final plenary approval by the governments who are party to the UNFCCC.

I'll outline why even the worst peer review of an article shall never hold any fear for you again. I'll outline the distinction between an assessment and a review process. I'll talk about the opportunities and insights that accrue.

Department of Geography Seminar Series

All are welcome

#MUGeogSeminars

@MaynoothGeog