“In my spare time, I loved visiting the many beautiful cities , landscapes and attractions in Germany. There were so many options to travel around Germany however the best mode of transport was buses and trains”.

Learning Outcomes:

- I learned how to manage myself. Everybody knows that the German's are famously known for their punctuality, this meant I had to be on time for everything.
- I pushed my boundaries by working things out on my own, this made me feel more confident about myself.
- By meeting new and different people, this helped me broaden my horizons and new cultures. I study International Development, so this experience was beneficial towards my studies.
- I would highly recommend it to anyone, it allows you to explore the world and discover new skills and qualities you thought you never had!
